IOWA MAMMALS

Thursday, January 4 • 6-7 pm

Indianola Activity Center, Buxton Room

Brrrr! What do Iowa mammals do when it gets so cold outside?

In this class with our friends at Warren County Conservation, you will learn about some of Iowa's special mammals, the adaptations they have that help them survive the coldest Iowa nights, and which mammals don't particularly love the chilly evenings! Get a chance to feel some of the furs and bring your mammal questions!

Fun for all ages! This activity hosted by Indianola Parks & Recreation is FREE!

Please register by Wednesday, January 3, by calling Warren County Conservation at (515) 961-6169 or visit www.warrencb.org/events.
